Tennessee Association First to Use Drone in Disaster Relief Efforts

An Emergency Responder with Nolachucky Baptist Association Disaster Relief used this technology assisting in finding a missing girl in the Tennessee mountains in10 minutes in what would have taken 2 hours on foot. They have been able to locate people after natural disasters in tornadoes, floods and hurricanes, as well as locating the source of flooding in Waverly, Tennessee. They've also been using it as an assessor to help them get the full picture of the disasters, so they know where to begin. They are developing a water rescue team that can work in tandem with the drone. Read the full story
